

Introducing Sue Greenaway

My name is Sue Greenaway and I have lived in Pensnett for the past 29 years. I previously lived in Wordsley for 7 years, so I have lived in the Dudley South area for 36 years since my marriage. I have a daughter and son who are now grown up, and I am a proud grandmother to two granddaughters.

I worked as a Secretary/PA for Dudley Council for 13 years, at a senior level in the Social Services Department. I resigned about 7 years ago to enable me to devote more time to my own business. This working environment has given me an insight into how the Council operates and, if I am elected, will be a good grounding for the work which I would expect to undertake on behalf of the constituents of Brockmoor and Pensnett Ward.

Until May last year I also owned a business in the Stourbridge area and ran a Newsagent/General Store there for 20 years.

I am now semi-retired and spend some of my time looking after my youngest granddaughter while her parents are at work. This means that I will be available to work in the constituency on virtually a full time basis, and I will be able to give my full attention to the task of being a conscientious and hard-working Councillor.

Dudley Council “one of the best in the country” ★ ★ ★ ★

Dudley Council has been judged one of the best in the country, gaining the maximum “four star” rating in a national report.

The Audit Commission’s findings, based on an independent assessment show that Dudley has improved from a three-star rating last year to a full four out of four this year - the only four star council in the West Midlands.

This marks a huge improvement since Conservatives began to run the Council in 2003. Before that, under Labour control, Dudley was failing with just two stars.

Even though it received four stars overall for the quality of its services, Dudley Council, under the Conservatives, had the lowest Council Tax bill of any of the 36 metropolitan areas in the whole country last year.

Now that’s value for money!

Introducing Chris Kelly, the Conservative Parliamentary Spokesman for Dudley South

My name is Chris Kelly. I'm 29 years old and Black Country born and bred. My family business, Keltruck Ltd., was established 25 years ago in the Black Country selling trucks and offering a full range of support services to operators of heavy vehicles. I've worked in the business, which has a depot on Oak Lane in Kingswinford, for several years working my way up the ladder to my current position of marketing director. I've been active in local politics since I was 18 years old and am convinced that the Labour Government's congestion charging proposals, which I strongly oppose, would be a disaster for Dudley and for the Black Country.

Here's what I think...

My experience in business and politics has led me to recognise that we have far too many bureaucrats, too many "nanny-state laws" and far too much interference. I have never understood why we allow so many paid officials to regulate our lives. That's why I'm campaigning for better Government and lower taxes. I'm fed up with our taxes being wasted; on things we don't want like road pricing; on an immigration system and NHS that's in chaos and on a Home Office that can't provide enough prison space.
