Why we need change in Dudley South

2010 is a once in a generation chance to vote for change. We need to give this country back its pride, its financial stability, its freedoms, its integrity. And we need a government that will support hardworking people, like those in Dudley South, who are the backbone of this country.

Change is based on the values of responsibility and aspiration. David Cameron offers change you can trust because he has proved he can give strong, modern leadership to a united Conservative Party.

Let's make this a year for change - a year when the positive defeats the negative.

Conservatives

The people of Dudley South are unstinting in their support for our troops. When local Conservatives took collection buckets for the Army Benevolent Fund appeal to Merry Hill donations poured in. For the last three years I have been proud to be amongst them on Remembrance Day and hope it will be possible to bring our troops home soon.

Despite Gordon Brown ensuring the UK was worst placed to deal with the global recession it is pleasing to see Dudley manufacturers like Westfield Sportscars managing to increase their exports - a great example locally.

Dudley South has lots of community and voluntary groups but no-one to champion them. I think a Member of Parliament should help promote and encourage people to get involved with their local communities. If elected that's what I'll do.

60 SECOND Q&A CHRIS KELLY

Q: Why do you want to be an MP?

A: I'm proud to be Black Country born and bred. Today I help to run my local family business (www.keltruck.com). So I'm passionate about promoting our area and helping to bring about the change our country so desperately needs. This election is the biggest choice for a generation in our country - as important as the watershed election of 1979, the last time Labour bankrupted Britain. Your new MP will be tasked with making crucial decisions for our future. I'm on the side of the hard-working families in Dudley who have been hit so hard by Labour's economic mismanagement.

Q: What can you do for Dudley South?

A: I want to bring my local focus and business expertise to bear for the benefit of everyone living and working in Dudley South.

Q: What is your favourite thing about living in Dudley South?

A: The fact that we have vibrant high streets plus the Merry Hill Centre and the Waterfront whilst being on the doorstep of glorious countryside.

Q: Favourite moment of the campaign?

A: I expect that will be meeting lots of new people on the doorstep. With more than 30,000 households in Dudley South it's a tall order getting round everyone in person!

Q: What will election night be like?

A: Polls close at 22:00 which is when I will join my family for dinner before attending the count and declaration. It will be an exciting but crucial moment for our country as we learn whether or not we've achieved the change up and down Britain that we so desperately need.

CHRIS KELLY - A RECORD OF ACTION

SUPPORTING LOCAL BUSINESSES

Chris enjoys visiting local firms. He knows how important successful local businesses are and is pleased David Cameron has pledged to reverse Labour's disastrous National Insurance increase which would hit jobs and hurt businesses.

SHOWCASING DUDLEY SOUTH

Over the last three years Chris has brought many prominent politicians, including several members of David Cameron's Shadow Cabinet, to Dudley South to see the successes and listen to local concerns.

HELPING THOSE LESS FORTUNATE THAN OURSELVES

Since being selected as your candidate in 2007, Chris has given up his summer holidays to take part in (self-financed) social action projects to genocide hit Rwanda and Srebrenica in the former Yugoslavia.
