Conservative candidate for Dudley South

Including Wordsley, Kingswinford, Brockmoor, Pensnett, Wall Heath, Brierley Hill, Netherton, Woodside and St. Andrews

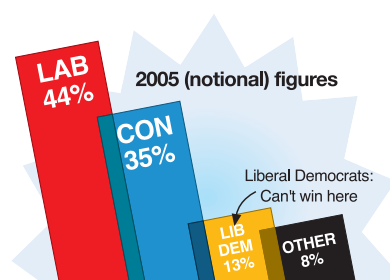

We are on the verge of the biggest choice facing the British people at the most important general election since 1979. I therefore want to ask you for a few minutes of your time to tell you what I believe in, why I am running to be your new Member of Parliament in Dudley South and what changes a Conservative Government would bring nationally.

Firstly, I have clear principles which I believe you share:

- I am incredibly proud to be Black Country born and bred. I am also proud of Britain's unique history and the role that we have played in the world.
- I believe we should be governed by Britons in Dudley South and Westminster, not by unelected bureaucrats in Brussels and Strasbourg
- Everyone deserves to receive a great education, regardless of their background
- Taxes should be low to give families more of their own money to spend on their priorities like children and grandchildren
- Regulation should be light to help our businesses grow
- The welfare state should provide a safety net to help those genuinely in need but people who take advantage of it must be dealt with firmly
- Immigration into the UK should be reduced significantly
- Criminals should serve the sentences that are handed down to them
- Our politics is broken, not least because of the appalling behaviour of some politicians in recent years. Our political system requires radical reform.

Secondly, why do I want to be your MP?

I am proud of the Black Country and the contribution our part of Britain has made to this country. However, in recent years this area has suffered more than any other part of the UK in terms of jobs lost and the decline in manufacturing. We need to attract more businesses and more leisure facilities to improve our area. If elected I will use the experience I have gained working in business in the Black Country for the past decade and work alongside Conservative controlled Dudley Council to attract more investment and jobs into the area.

Being a local lad I speak your language. I am a lifelong Wolves fan and understand this area. I have a track record from the last three years of being your candidate of helping local residents with countless queries, concerns and issues. If elected as your new MP I will continue to work hard for everyone in Dudley South.

Finally, what would a Conservative Government do for your family?

Set out below are 5 things a Conservative Government would do in order to get Britain back on track:

- Cut net immigration into Britain
- Introduce new laws that would give home owners more rights to protect their property against intruders
- We know that all of us have to live within our means and therefore we will curb Britain's huge budget deficit by having the courage to make difficult decisions on public spending
- Scrap the nonsense of Labour's Human Rights Act
- Reduce the form-filling and targets culture that frustrates our doctors, nurses, teachers and police and stops them from getting on with the job

There are also 2 things a Conservative Government would not change:

- We would continue to provide more funding for the NHS every year
- We would keep free bus passes, free TV licences and the Winter Fuel Allowance - our pensioners deserve a fair deal

I know that many of you feel let down by the behaviour of your politicians in recent years. I feel let down too. If elected as your new MP I will never expect the taxpayer to foot the bill for my furniture, my TV or my vacuum cleaner. And I would mow my lawn like everyone else. I come from a local family business background and will always treat taxpayers' money - your money - with due respect, as I would company money.

Our country desperately needs a new government. After 13 years in power Gordon Brown has quadrupled our national debt, significantly raised taxes on families and businesses, sold our gold at the lowest point in the market and ruined our pension system. After 13 years of Labour immigration is too high, too much power has been given away to Brussels and Britain is less respected in the world. I believe Dudley South needs a new voice in Parliament to help bring about the changes this country needs. If elected I will do my utmost every day to serve you, your families and our community.

Yours sincerely,

Chris Kelly
